Arrival from Shanghai. The Corea came in yesterday bringing dates from Shanghai to the 9th instant. Rebels near Newchwang.

In the Shanghai Recorder we read that the ebels have taken the native city thirty miles rom the foreign settlement at Newchwang. Intelligence bearing date 29th April from the nort of Newchwang, states that the native Oity. 30 miles from the foreign settlement, has been taken by Rebels. The Tartar General Yub, made off at the second shot; and this official, noted for his anti-fereign pronensities, has been replaced by Sun-le-Fang. Chung-Lin, well know to foreigners at Pekin as one of the head clerks in the Furrign Office, and who during, 1865 was Superntendent of Customs, has been appointed Civil

Commissioner. This important and alarming intelligence forms another of the many instances which we have had f the other insecurity of foreigners in China. The City of Newchwang is barely thirty miles from the foreign settlement at Yingtsze: and when is is borne in mind that there is no protection to it in the form of walls or other defence. and that the country is quite open and the roads at this time, so good that a four or five hours ride might bring a band down upon it, some idea. may be formed of the danger which threatens. The policy which has been adopted by the British Government in affording aid to the Imperialists odt, etarequare of orqueste measure to exasperate the Rebels and there can be no doubt that very little mercy will be shewn to any foremers who may he unfortunate enough to fall into their hands. he sense of insecurity, expressed repeatedly by Mr. Mandows, which has often been represented a groundless, now appears to have been only too well founded; and it is a anhiect of congratulation had the American Corvette Wichasett will be at be seene of danger in time, we hape, to afford the

The scope of this Map embraces an area of about Forty Five miles from North to South, and of about Sixty miles from East to West-that is o say the District of Sun-on whereof Nam-tao. is the departmental town. It is within the district of Hun-on that Hongkong and its dependencles slood prior to their carsion, and the whole Coast line for many miles adjagent is under the jurisdiction of the Mandarin at Nam-tan, The Map is the result of four years' labor, and s made entirely from the personal observations if the author. The dangers, the difficulties, and he hardships which the work has tavelved, have been very great. The district is excessively nountainous and as occular demonstration had relusively in all cases to be relied ou, by reason. stigue attending travel has been no light matter. The villagers entertain the idea that their mounsains contain auriferous deposits, and are very jenious of foreigners examining them. The conequence is that there is much difficulty in proenring the services of guides, and still more diffienity in obtaining correct information on any noint. In fact the idea above alluded to proves a strong incentive to the conveyance of false information, and excites resistance to the progress of the traveller, bosides creating great personal Under these citaumstances this Map has been produced, and it has been suggested to the au-

that that it is a plty the reault of so much labor, langer, and difficulty, should in these days of progress, be concealed from the world. Science, Religion and Commerce are now allied in the vast work of the dissemination of knowledge and of Western Civilisation, and it cannot be doubted that Geography is the pionecr of the movement. But in a local and a directly utilitarian point of view, the author is encouraged to believe that his work should not be placed as a candle under a bushel. This wealthy and most important Colony stands in the midst of the Sun-on District, and it seems to betoken a feeling in rear of the age, that the topography of the immediate neighbourhood alread he a matter of perfect andifference. To he naturalist, the traveller, the sportsman, and the Missionary, the information should be acceptable to say nothing of its political value. Besides, for pulice nurposes in dealing with the all prevailing evil of piracy, when the subtlety of the Mandurin is considered, the author cannot doubt the value of his work to the British authorities. He therefore calls attention to his Map, and socits the favor of subscriptions to enable him to

needed the gid of a great statesman mure than today. There are signs on all sides that her hour is srriving, that were Cayour alive, or had ; she a statesman whom Parliament would follow without discussion, she might extricate herself this year from all the main difficulties of her position. The nation, to begin with, is at length fairly awake to its financial dangers. One of the principal annovances and advantages of Continental statesmen is the difficulty of bringing financial facin bome to the minds of the neople. The notion that the State has a nurse which fills itself, that it has interests different from those of the people, that the hour of collapse will somehow or other never arrive, is almost ineradicable. An impression like this produces an indifference to financial truth which makes people very impatient of taxation, repectally if, as in Italy they are only just beginning to accomulate money, and are convinced that the fiscal system is radically corrupt. Much of the intense dislike to reductions in the army proceeded from the oneviction that, let Ministers talk as they would. Italy, with her "heavy inxation," could always pay her way. The truth, however, has at last forced itself on the minds of the nanulation and sec alarmed are the constituencies that Parliament attends only to finance, and the people bave pronosed a subscription to pay off the National Debt. With twenty-three millions of purple willing to be faxed, in a country paterally as rich as France, and at present paying only 21s, a head, any financial danger must be temporary, if only a good Ohan. cellar of the Exchequer can be found. In foreign affairs the position, though less defined, is almost equally favourable. It is very difficult for Englishmen who for eighteen yours have seen all German monages end in words, excent when directed against Denmark, to believe that Austria and Prussia really intend to come to blows for Holstein, but there can be no doubt that the relations between the two nowers are beo ming strained. The Prus lan Government affirms that the position in the Duchies is unteres. ble, their separation keeping alive the hopes of the 's Augustenburgers." that is, of three fourths of the population, has true mitted to Vienna some form of ultimatum, and has notually issued a Royal decree amplicable to both Duchies, and than the King of Prussis, or the Emperor of Mercantile firm. In other words, the King either assumes to exercise in both Duchies the highest prerogative of absolute povereignly the right of legislation, or formally anubs the Kaiser for allowing Holsteiners to plead for a government of their own selection. The Kaiser must new seither maintain his separate rights, or retire humiliated from the struggle. His Commissioner in Holstein, General von Gah. longe has allowed the Holsteiners to profess openly their desire for their own Dake, has suggested that the Constitution of 1831 would be a fitting basis for legislation, and has stendily protected editors inimical to the Prossian claim. To permit mon to be threatened by a foreign Power for language thus encouraged in an Austrian dependency is to surrender, independence, and though Anstria may yield, it will be with a results t extricate herself from the position which makes such humiliations possible. This key to that positime is the possession of Venice. So long as the Haraburgs retain that province they must exhaust at least a third of their strength in defending athamselves, against Italy, must risk an invasion from the South while they are fighting in the North, and must calculate on aggression from teyond the Bhine as a probable contingen-
